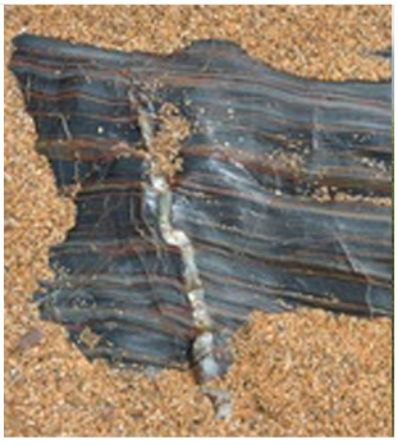
Confluence Trail

Trail 3

Walking or Cycling
Walking Time: 2.5hrs
Difficulty Level: Easy
Shade Cover: 80%

From the lodge, cross the bridge then proceed downstream to the confluence of Makata and Kaleke stream. A rest point is at the confluence with nice views of both rivers into the riverine habitat offering good birding sites. From here, proceed towards the cattle ranch and then turn right towards the research plot (where pine and eucalyptus trees were initially planted, but now the natural vegetation is taking over.) Follow the trail up to the road and turn right towards the lodge.


This path is perfect for forest bathing or walks with the family, where you can see the natural vegetation reclaiming the area, dambo views and small sand striations at the confluence of the rivers, it's perfect to spot a variation of seed eating birds with plenty of shade.
